More Shippers use the

Port of San Francisco

because it provides:

1. Higher sailing frequency—112 lines serving 264 world ports.
2. Shortest trans-Pacific route among California ports. With few exceptions San Francisco is final port outbound and first port inbound. This can save days in transit time.
3. Unsurpassed cargo handling facilities—specially developed terminals for grain, copra, cotton and refrigeration.
4. 14-acre foreign trade zone.
5. Invaluable business advantages due to San Francisco's position as commercial capital of the West in banking, insurance, finance, consular representation, communications, transportation.

INTRODUCTION

This report on foreign trade through the San Francisco Customs District is published by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners for the Port of San Francisco as a service to world traders. The annual analysis has been issued regularly since 1925, in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Commerce and the Bureau of the Census.

Information in the current report is based on tabulations of more than 40,000 individual cargo records. Summarized from these are statistics on all nonmilitary cargoes exported and imported through the customs district in the 1953 calendar year.

A complete listing of contents will be found on page 3. For an explanation of how the figures are derived and organized, please turn to page 7.

This publication is available without cost. For additional copies, write to the Port Director, Board of State Harbor Commissioners, Ferry Building, San Francisco 6, California.

EXPLANATION OF STATISTICS

"Foreign Trade through San Francisco Customs District" includes waterborne foreign trade laden or unladen in the Customs District. The San Francisco Customs District comprises all of that part of California north of the northern boundaries of San Luis Obispo, Kern and San Bernardino Counties and the States of Nevada and Utah. Nearly all of the (waterborne) foreign trade passes through ports on San Francisco Bay or on waterways tributary to the Bay. Since 1951 country information is for the country of Final Destination or Origin, whereas, in 1951 and recent postwar years the country of unlading and lading was used.

The basic sources of this report are the Shipper's Export Declaration and the import entries, statistical copies of which are forwarded to the United States Bureau of the Census. "Foreign Trade through San Francisco Customs District" is prepared from information supplied by the Bureau of the Census from the declarations and entries.

In-transit Trade

General export and import data include foreign goods as well as domestic and warehouse entries as well as consumption entries. In-transit merchandise, however, is not included in regular export-import listings and the separate section on in-transit goods is an addition to regular exports and imports. The term "in-transit" applies to merchandise moving through the United States from one foreign country to another without having been entered as an import.

Military Shipments

Shipments for the United States Armed Forces are excluded. Other shipments, such as foreign aid, on Department of Defense-operated vessels do not require export declarations. This class of shipments, which is also excluded from "Foreign Trade through the San Francisco Customs District," includes not only shipments on military transports but also shipments on commercial vessels by the Department of Defense under time, voyage or space charter arrangements. Certain items of military significance such as ordnance, military vehicles and aircraft are combined into "special categories" and no details are published for individual customs districts by commodity, country or value. These "special category" commodities are also excluded. United States Government foreign aid handled through private trading channels (except "special category") is included in regular export data.

Tanker Traffic

Both exports and imports of petroleum products and other bulk oils on tanker-type vessels are shown in separate sections. The information in the tanker-reports is also included in the regular export-import listings and represent a detail on, not an addition to, these listings.

Noncontiguous Territories

In addition to foreign trade, this report includes information on the San Francisco Customs District's trade with the Territory of Hawaii (dry cargo only) and shipments to Puerto Rico. Data on trade with the other territories is not available.
